QUEEN'S COLLEGE AND THE UHARGES AGAINST IT.

The following is the evidence given before the Betrenchment Committee by Dr. Eifel, Inapador of Schools with reference to Queen's Question (by the Chairman, Mr. Justice Angroyd) -Now I see that the expenditure on Queen's College, as it is now called, is $14,000. less $12,000 for less. A -I have been twice or three times asked by the Government, during the last three years, to joing Committee to enquire whether the fees could not be raised. In each case I agreed with the other two momb re of the Committee that at present it is impossible to raise the fees. My impression was that the school is in such a disorganised and ineffective condition that raising the fees at the present juncture would simply raduce the number of scholurs to such a low figure that the school would be proportionately a greater exponse than ever. Hon C. P. Chater - What are the present

A 33 a month in the first and 32 a month n the second and third classes, but only a small number ever enter these classes. These fees are charged for every mouth in the year whether. school is held or not. But school materials are included in the fees and are not an extra charge. School books are given to the children so that these charges are not merely for school fees but for school fees and school materials. But in the ouse of the majority of boys at that rotrool they only pay $1 a month, which is the sum charged in the lower olusion.

Perhaps I might also bind in another paper When I reported last year on the condition of Victoria College, I was afraid that the Government would not be able to china to any decision. because I reported one thing and the Head Master another, but within a day or two after momorial was hunded to the Government by far of the musters of Victoria Codego - enterely independent of my action and its tener was victorily what one of the mater had publicly stated at an 'Cldd Volumes' meeting master's public statement was subsequently made by four of the masters of that College and sent in to the Government, and if you like to see that memorial-it is confirmatory of my report-I will hand it in.

I do not advecate the abolition of Queen College. . On the contrary I think it most essen tial that Queen's College should be retained. I see from the history of local education that our silucational system has developed whielly under the stimulus of healthy competition. Government reply rederved was that the Secretary of State Schools, Protestant Schools, Roman Catholis Schools have multiplied by mainst emulation. Now that the Kni-fong Solvers have outsyed the lists also and so largely, I think the Government may safely withdraw gradually from the competition. Still I believe it would not be good thing to give up Queen's College even if as I say it is in a non-effective condition. It ought to be reformed and kept going. For some time past I have repeatedly recommended that as soon as there is a body of native educationists able to take over the school: the Government should do, as they have done in India, hand it over to a representative body of native taxpayors and leave it to them to work out the education question as they think best, under Government sup rvision. My advice is not to do away with Queen's College but to reform and improve it.
